CHAIRMAN JOE SANCHEZ CREATES “KID’S SPOT” TO MAKE GOVERNMENT MORE FRIENDLY & FUN ON THE INTERNET

(Miami, FL)- City Commission Chairman Joe Sanchez has created “KID’S SPOT” – a colorful, fun and kid-friendly internet site to connect Miami City government with the City’s youth.

“When children want to find out what’s going on, they go to the internet. Kid’s Spot is there on-line resource for education, facts, contests, City youth programs, volunteering opportunities and more,” Sanchez said.

Splashed with vivid colors and graphics, Kid’s Spot is not your typical dry, institutional government web site. Visitors to www.miamigov.com/kidsspot can click Kid’s Spot to:

- Go Green and learn about recycling and sustainability
- Read City news updates of issues that impact young people
- Visit the family fun section with links to City attractions
- Explore the Did You Know section to learn about Miami government
- View a fun gallery of family events and happenings
- Enter contests, learn about the arts and protect pets.

“I represent all of Miami, including its youth,” Sanchez said. “I am proud to have sponsored youth orchestras, sporting teams and an unprecedented building program that has created a state of the art gym, a community center and improve parks for our youth. “Kid’s Spot is one more way of serving my youthful constituents through a colorful, educational website.”
